

Care for your end-users' skin

The benefits of choosing the right brief closure system.

The tapes used in incontinence briefs have a more important function than you would initially think.

Use of tapes and adhesives on sensitive and elderly skin needs to be avoided as much as possible. Attaching adhesive tapes and subsequently removing them can lead to multiple skin tears, an issue commonly referred to as medical adhesive-related skin injury (MARSII).

Taking care of your end-users' skin starts with you!

In order to preserve the frail skin of elderly people it is recommended to use skin-friendly, hypoallergenic, antimicrobial, disposable, superabsorbent and breathable briefs and in line also choose skin-friendly, hypoallergenic, antimicrobial single-use pressure-sensitive tape.

Avery Dennison's next generation incontinence Y-bond mechanical Multilane solution for adult incontinence help you do the job right. This solution is a pre-combined, Y-bond closure system which ensures adequate functionality of the brief. The tape features a hook zone with 3 lanes of hooks and is ISO-10993-approved.

Your benefits?

- High performing (high peel and shear performance)
- More Flexible overall hook construction
- Softer hook zone leading to a softer feeling
- Pattern coated adhesive (= lower cost and lower environmental impact)
- Multiple configuration options
